ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A dynamic packet consolidation algorithm for a wireless transmission regime. At least first and second packets of a plurality of packets are sampled. The respective throughput times of each first and second packet are then calculated. The first and second packets are consolidated into a third packet if the sum of the corresponding throughput times exceeds a predetermined limit.

5